DUBLIN, Octob. 9.

ON Thursday last as some Masons and Bricklayers were at work at the Mansion-House of Powers Court in the County of Wicklow, the Scaffold fell down, by which five Men were killed outright, and several more dangerously wounded.

Hague, Oct. 30. A private Letter from Cassel has the following Paragraph, 'That the Emperor and the King of Sweden have made a private Agreement for an Union between them in Affairs of Commerce, and particularly for all the Subjects of his Imperial Majesty's Hereditary Countries; and as the Offenders are comprised therein, they will not fail to join their Ships with the Swedes, and to traffick with them, and under their Colours, in the East Indies.'

London, Oct. 30. We hear that the Fellow who gave an Information that a Barrel of Gunpowder was placed, on Thursday last, under one of the Bridges in the King's Road, near Fulham, (in order to blow up his Majesty) is found out to be the Person who put it there; and is to be examined again this Evening before Mr. Delafaye.

Petersburgh, Oct. 31. Letters from Moscow bring an Account of an Officer being arrived there, with a Confirmation of the new Victory gain'd by the Sophy over the Turks, with these further particulars: That the Succours which the Turks sent to their Army consisted of 20,000 Men, with a vast Quantity of Provisions; that the Detachment from the Persian Army to meet them, and hinder their joining the Ottomans, was of 24,000 Horse, amongst whom Prince Thamas went in Person; that they met them accordingly, a Days Journey from Bagdat; upon which the Turks quitted their Provisions to put themselves in a Posture of Defence; but the Persians came so quick upon them, that they had not time to range themselves, and were soon routed; 8000 Turks were kill'd on the Spot, 2000 made Prisoners, and all the Provisions, with some Pieces of Cannon, were left in the Field.

Bath, Oct. 31. This Morning between 10 and 11 o'clock, a Duel was fought with Pistols in Harrison's Walks, between Mr. Basil Prife of the City of Bristol, Merchant, second Son of William Prife, Esq; formerly Knight of the Shire for the County of Hereford, and, in the latter end of Queen Ann's Reign, Commissioner of the Excise; and one Mr. Charles Jones, late a Fellow of New College in Oxford, who about five years since quitted his Fellowship, and came down here with 200 l. and won upwards of 4000 l. but, his good Fortune not continuing, was reduced to the Stage. The Quarrel was on the following Occasion, viz. The Night before, Mr. Prife and the said Jones were at a Billiard Table, and agreed to play a Game for Half a Crown, which Mr. Prife won, and demanded his Money; but Jones said, he would owe him Half a Crown; whereupon Mr. Prife growing angry at his presuming to play having no Money in his Pocket, kicked him down Stairs. Jones, not taking this Treatment very civilly, went out of the House, and wrote him a Challenge, which was fought as above. Mr. Prife discharged his Pistol first, but missed him; when Jones, as 'tis said, went up to him, and shot him under the right Pap, so that he never spoke afterwards, but expired in about ten Minutes. Jones made his Escape immediately, and, concealing himself that Night about Bath, fled for it the next Day, and Hue and Cries are in Pursuit of him, the Coroner's Inquest having brought in their Verdict Wilful Murder, the Challenge being found in Mr. Prife's Pocket, when dead.

Amsterdam, Novem. 2. Letters from Constantinople, of the 15th of September, which came by the way of Venice, confirm the Deposition of the Grand Visier, who was dismissed from that important Office some Days after he had quelled a dangerous Conspiracy. The Fear of a new Rebellion, which might have been attended with fatal Consequences, induced the Grand Seignior to remove that Prime Minister from the Direction of Affairs. The great Number of Persons the Visier had massacred with a barbarous Cruelty, under pretence of their being concerned in the said Conspiracy, and whose Bodies he had thrown into the Canals, or exposed in the Streets; the ghastly sight of so prodigious a number of Heads, stuck upon Poles at the Corner of almost every Street, and the Number increased daily; joined with the Insolence of the Troops employed in these cruel Executions, and with the Hatred which the Grand Visier had drawn upon himself before, so exasperated the Inhabitants of that great City, that they were ripe to undertake any Enterprize by way of Revenge, if his Highness had not prevented the Execution of it by deposing that Minister; which has entirely appeased the People, and restored the Tranquility of the City. The same Letters add, that the Porte was continually sending Money and Ammunition to Persia, to carry on the War against Prince Thamas with Vigour.

London, Novem. 11. On Saturday the 30th of October past, one Mrs. Sarah Tuck, a Mariner's Wife at Rotherhith, was brought to bed of three Children, two Boys and one Girl, which were the next Day baptized at Rotherhith Church, by the Reverend Dr. Lovel, one of his Majesty's Chaplains; and on Tuesday following she was delivered of a fourth stillborn male Child.

Hague, Nov. 2. Certainly the Roman Maxim, which directs Mankind not to precipitate themselves, but to proceed lente & secure, fair and softly, is to no State more applicable than to this in which we live. Of this I need not produce a more glaring Instance than the Affair of their High Mightinesses Accession to the Treaty of Vienna. Abundance of People have flattered themselves, that that Accession would have met with no Obstacle, but would have been made in Form, soon after that Treaty was concluded in the Month of March: the rather, because not only their High Mightinesses were included in it as contracting Parties, but the Treaty is so worded, that one would think it calculated to give them all possible Satisfaction, by abolishing the Ostend Company, &c. Besides, their High Mightinesses and the other Sovereigns were allowed but two Months Time to accede in. And after all, would any one have believed the Accession of this State would be postponed to this Day? Nay, that it should seem to be yet at a Distance, for Motives, upon which the Emperor shews no Inclination to give their High Mightinesses the Satisfaction they demand?

Charles-

Charlstown, South Car. Feb. 19. A Merchant of this Town has received a Letter from his Correspondent in Jamaica, dated the first of November last, giving him an Account, that the Snow Experiment, Capt. One of the Masters was tortured very much, in order to make him confess.

We hear from Southold on Long Island, that on the 27th of Feb. last, Mr. David Corey of that place sent his Servant with his little Son to water a Horse, and the Child having his Arm in a Noose which was at the end of the Halter, suddenly a Hog run from under a Bush, and frighten'd the Horse so that he started back and drew the Child a considerable way from the Ground, which surprizing the Horse more, he stamped upon the Child and killed it immediately.

And two young Men carrying a Piece of Timber on their Shoulders, were obliged to step backwards a few steps in order to turn; when the hindmost unfortunately striking his Heel against a Stump, fell on his Back, and the end of the Piece lighting on his Breast kill'd him immediately.
